Trainee expectations

At the director's discretion apprentices may be required to take additional classes outside of the company's weekly schedule to allow more time for growth in the individual's dance technique. Those classes would include ballet, lyrical and contemporary at the level discussed with the director.

In the first year of the company, it is not guaranteed that a apprentice will be able to perform in all dances that the company is a part of. Our first goal as a company is to steward the heart and the gift of each dancer before creating a public outlet for them to perform. Each apprentice will have a different time to be released to perform with the company this includes traveling opportunities as well.
